FROM THE CEO

Hello RepuGen Webteam Associates:

Successful Leaders

5th Observation – Persistence

Several years back, I read some guru (I can't remember his name) prophesize that innovation and persistence are the two main components of a successful life and a business. I believe that persistence is more important than even innovation when defining a fulfilled life or a successful leader.

When you innovate, then by definition, you are trying something new that was not done before. As a result, you can count on people who like the status quo, telling you that "it cannot be done". The resistance to any change will happen whether you shoot for the moon, which Elan Musk literally did, to much derision from the "experts," by declaring that Space-X will offer space travel soon; a lifestyle change where you decided to eat differently from what you have been doing to become healthy; or a simple process change at work about how we handle development work. You can only succeed if you believe in your innovation and persist despite the initial resistance you are guaranteed to face.

However, innovation is the keyword here because not every path you take to implement your idea would be viable, so you will need to pivot regularly to reach your end goal. For example, if you are going to a place and encounter a mountain in the way, it would make sense to get around it (innovate and pivot) rather than persist on your route and crash in it.

I encourage everyone reading this tip to think about the changes that could improve your personal life and professional work and implement it with determination.

Until next month.....

Ajay

KNOW YOUR COLLEAGUES

RAMESH KUMAR

Born and brought up in Patna, my primary and secondary education was from Patna itself. I have completed my B.Tech in 2014 from Jaipur and since then working and exploring my knowledge in UI UX Development. Design is my passion and I love creating things which are more visible and intuitive. At GMR Web Team this is my second term as UI UX Developer.

I love spending time with my headphones with loud music on and cooking, sometimes I also love watching documentary videos.

RAM THAKUR

Born and raised in STM I attended Cybotech Campus, Patna to complete BCA. After getting the degree, I joined Semsols for my internship. In September 2017, I got the opportunity to work at RepuGen Web Team (GMR).

I got the initial training from the team (Mahesh, Gopal, & Atul) and started working on dental clients. Also, got the opportunity to complete challenging tasks and work on GMRT with Abhay. Being a site manager, I create, discuss and implement marketing strategies to meet the targets. I also work with freelancers (as well as internal team members) and train them to complete the assigned work without compromising on quality.

I believe we should never stop learning and learning from experienced persons like Abhay, Ankesh, Pauline, Ron, Steve, Mahesh, Sangeeta, and Ajay is a blessing for me.

Outside of work, I love spending weekends with my friends and loved ones. I like to watch Biopic and Sci-Fi movies/series. Spending time with friends and watching biopics help me bounce back when I feel demotivated or low. Similarly, watching the Sci-fi series helps spark my interest in science/technology and increases my understanding of future concepts.
